

Harry's Game part 8B solution

Harry, I apologise for underestimating you. But I am afraid that you killed the wrong woman. Rose is currently incognito, and we have it from good resources that she is coming after you. After all our best efforts, you are still in danger. All I will advise is that you, and everyone with you destroy your equipment, and flee north. Run as far and as fast as you can, but knowing you, you will make the others leave and wait for Rose. You can't take her on, she's too strong. I do not need another man's life on my conscience. Really, you must trust me... I know, you can't trust anyone, but trust this; You will never hear from me or anyone else in this office. I promise not to endanger any more of you. You must understand that I am truly sorry. Yours until the day I die, K.H.
